DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection.

Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114.

Applicant's submission filed on 04 August 2005 has been entered.

Response to Amendment

The Applicant amended claims 1-7 and 10-16. All pending claims 1-7 and 10-18 were examined in this non-final office action.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-7 and 10-16 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

- 1. Claims 1-7 and 10-18 are rejected under 35 USC 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pallakoff (Paper #5, US 6,269,343) in view of Harney (PTO-892, Item: U, Proquest ID#49228274).

Pallakoff teaches a system and method of a buying team comprising members of the team who participate in a given offer. Pallakoff further teaches:

- Receiving a request for the group purchase from a terminal having an ID; terminal receiving ID: Inherent in Pallakoff are the structures necessary to permit receiving a request for the group purchase from a terminal having an ID. For example, a user desiring to participate as at team members views a web page displaying a single group offer and selects web page button to join buying team (see at least Fig. 2 (21, 28); col. 3, line 37 through col. 4, line 12). The URL that displays the single group offer is uniquely associated with the offer and is associated with the terminal requesting the "Join Buying Team" button 28 as depicted in Figure 2. Inherent in Pallakoff are the structures necessary to permit the terminal to received an ID associated with a group offer. For example, the system transmits a web page possessing a unique URL to the user terminal and displays a web page that is uniquely associated with a particular group offer via the URL.

- Notifying the terminal having the ID that request for the group purchase is received: after the user activate "Join Buying Team" button for a particular offer, the system responds by requesting billing and shipping info (if not previously registered) and will solicit quantity of product desired (see at least col. 4, lines 45-51); system updates web page to reflect "Aggregate Demand so Far" (see at least Fig. 2 (25); col. 3, line 66 through col. 4, line 6; col. 7, lines 31-46). Please note: the user who just joined will see his/her quantity added to aggregate demand.
- Storing a purchase state for satisfying a condition of the group purchase wherein the purchase state corresponds to the ID: system computer manipulates display field that shows aggregate demand which is the sum of all requested quantities for a particular group offer during an established time period (see at least Fig. 2 (25); col. 7, lines 31-35).
- Updating the purchase state: recalculates the aggregated demand and displays the aggregated demand to members (see at least Fig. 2 (25); col. 7, lines 31-46).
- Giving a special favor to the purchaser on the basis of the purchase state:
 - after passage of a time period included in the condition the special favor is given to the purchaser if the purchase state stored satisfies the condition of the group purchase: based on time limit or aggregated demand greater than or equal to maximum available offer quantity, the group offer is concluded and special offer is determined (e.g. if 6-20 balls were sold then special offer is $8.00 each instead of $10.00 each; if 21-50 balls were sold then special offer is $4.00 each instead of $8.00) (see at least Fig. 3 (32, 35); col. 4, lines 20-36). Please note: reaching a particular threshold results in a special favor by the seller- a discount.

- special favor is not given to the purchaser if the purchase state does not satisfy the condition: special favor of $4.00 per ball is not granted if 20 balls or fewer are sold (see at least Fig. 3 (32, 35); col. 4, lines 20-36).
- Purchase period: time period/ date limits established and displayed to members (see at least Fig. 2 (26); Fig. 3 (32); col. 4, lines 7-8; 65-67).
- Program: Inherent in Pallakoff are the structures necessary to permit the storage and execution of computer programs. For example, see detail program flow (see at least Fig. 6 (61-68); col. 7, lines 6-8).
- Making payment: members of buying team are charged for purchased product; receive invoices or pay via credit cards (see at least col. 8, lines 41-53).

- System means: means for electronically transmitting a group offer and ID to members of a buying group; means for electronically receiving ID information from group members; means for making payment.

Pallakoff teaches all the above as noted under the 103(a) rejection and teaches a) a system representing sellers, b) posting seller offers and aggregating buyers into one or more purchasing groups to leverage the buying potential of a buying group, c) providing a special favor to each member of the buying group in the form of a discounted price at the conclusion of a group buying cycle (limited by time or available quantity), and d) the entity operating the sales system receiving a commission from the seller. Pallakoff, however, does not disclose providing a rebate to each member of the buying group at the conclusion of the group buying cycle. Harney teaches affinity programs leveraging large-group buying power to produce discounts on various services or products for individual members of the group. Harney teaches participating real-estate brokers rebating a portion of their regular commissions to an affinity group sponsor company and the sponsor company passing on all or most of the rebate directly to the affinity group member that previously purchased goods (U: see at least pages 1 and 2). Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at time of the invention to modify the method of Pallakoff to pass rebates to each individual member as taught by Harney, in order to further lower member cost in previously procured goods or services, and thereby attract member to the buying group service.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

- US 6,128,599 (Walker et al.) 03 October 2000; teaches group purchasing, determining aggregate group performance, and providing reward types including rebates.
- US 6,351,738 (Clark) 26 February 2002; teaches lowering the cost to members of a group purchasing program by passing rebates paid by vendors to members via the selling entity.
